Islands of the World XII
“Globalisation: Islands Adapting to Change”
British Virgin Islands
29 May – 1 June 2012

Aims of Islands XII
The Conference objective was to stimulate discourse on how islands across the globe, and in particular the Virgin Islands and the greater Caribbean, are adapting to the changes that Globalisation has ushered into the 21st century. The desired Conference outcome was to place the islands of the world and the BVI society, in particular, within a better strategic position that would empower our island nations to become more in touch with pressing issues on the global stage, having participated in this international forum.

Greater Access for Young People to Attend Islands of the World XII Conference
Students and other young people everywhere were being encouraged to attend and participate actively in the Islands of the World XII Conference. […] […] The College itself had led the way by waiving registration fees for international students and delegates who had expressed the need for financial assistance. Local students were not left out either. […] […] Further, HLSCC had launched a student ambassador programme for the conference, which allowed students to participate in the event and be a part of a team to assist delegates while they are in the territory. […] Meanwhile, First Caribbean International Bank covered the registration costs for four international students […] Also, the International Small Islands Studies Association […] has offered five scholarships for international students who have already had their papers accepted. ISISA Endorses Global Cook Book for Islands of the World
Anna and Godfrey Baldacchino were co-editing a publication titled, «A Taste of Islands: A Global Islands Cookbook.» […] The International Small Islands Studies Association […] had confirmed its willingness to endorse the initiative and adopt it as an ISISA publication. It is a perfect fit, as just like the book, ISISA celebrated the diversity and resilience of island people and cultures throughout the world. […] Press Release PDS1 12 (20 June 2012)
